BONKING BORIS 'SIGNS UP FOR CELEB BIG BRUV'

By PATRICIA GOODMAN

BORIS Johnson is set to appear in this year's Celebrity Big Brother, Midweek Sport can reveal.

The former PM – nicknamed Bonking Boris – is believed to be just days away from inking a deal to appear on the ITV show when it returns to screens in April.

An insider said: 'This is the telly coup of the century'.

Boris will be keeping it in the family – his sister Rachel took part in the 2018 series of the reality show.

‘Immigrants weaponising the ECHR’

KEMI Badenoch says the chicken nugget immigration case shows migrants are weaponising the European Convention on Human Rights to avoid deportation.

The Conservative leader (above) told the Alliance for Responsible Citizenship conference Western civilisation had been “hacked” in recent decades because of “loopholes in liberalism” – including in the ECHR.

Her comments came after multiple cases of illegal migrants or convicted foreign criminals using human rights laws to stay in the UK or halt deportation.

They include an Albanian criminal who avoided deportation after claiming his son had an aversion to foreign chicken nuggets.

Mrs Badenoch said: “The current system is being exploited. The public are enraged at the perception the UK has become a haven for foreign criminals.”

Assisted dying docs shortage

PSYCHIATRISTS have warned there may not be enough doctors available to meet the needs of proposed assisted dying legislation.

Labour MP Kim Leadbeater, who proposed the Bill, tabled changes last week involving the scrapping of a High Court judge in favour of a three-person expert panel made up of social workers, lawyers and psychiatrists.

But psychiatry experts have since warned staff shortages could impact the panel requirements, with one saying it was “probably not” workable for every case.

Musk to audit Fort Knox amid claims bullion’s been STOLEN

WHERE IS THE GOLD?

ELON Musk’s Department of Government Efficiency is set to launch an audit of Fort Knox – amid fears the US gold reserves are MISSING!

Musk (left) questioned why the gold supply is not reviewed every year, leading to speculation that he could look into the military base with the fortified vault full of Yank gold.

Since President Donald Trump took office and put Musk in a position of power in Washington, the billionaire businessman has targeted multiple agencies for cuts that the duo feels will save the federal government from “wasteful spending”. One commentator tweeted this week: “It would be great if Elon Musk could take a look inside Fort Knox just to make sure the 4,580 tonnes of US gold is there.

“Last time anyone looked was 50 years ago in 1974.”

Musk responded to the post with: “Surely it’s reviewed at least every year?”

But Republican Senator Rand Paul of Kentucky said “nope” and invited Musk to “do it” and have his DOGE staffers conduct an audit of the reserves located in the Fort Knox Army base.

The Bullion Depository holds roughly

147 million troy ounces of bulk gold, which represents over half the gold held by the US federal government – or 56.35% of the total.

The US Mint Police are responsible for protecting the gold reserve.

Gold reserves in the US, just like all gold reserves, act as a financial safety net against economic instability.

Trump sends congrats over Syria strikes

PRESIDENT Trump congratulated US Central Command forces for conducting a successful weekend airstrike in Syria, targeting a senior “terrorist leader”.

He wrote on Truth Social: “US forces conducted a precision airstrike against a member of al-Qaeda in Syria this weekend.”

The terrorist leader was working with al-Qaeda across the region. Congratulations to CENTCOM Commander Gen Michael Kurilla, and the US warfighters who dealt justice to another Jihadist threatening America and our allies and partners.

Kurilla said US forces will “continue to relentlessly pursue terrorists in order to defend our homeland, and US, allied, and partner personnel in the region”.

The operation marked the fifth airstrike conducted or enabled by CENTCOM against ISIS and Hurras al Din since Mr Trump took office.

Strikes against ISIS took place in Iraq and those against Hurras al Din were in Syria.

Germans angrily reject PM’s ‘send troops’ call

OFF TO WASHINGTON: PM Starmer

KRAUTS BLITZ STARMER’S UKRAINE PLANS

‘IRRITATED’: Germany’s Chancellor Olaf Scholz

KEIR Starmer’s call for Europe to step up and deploy troops to Ukraine has been blitzed by the Germans.

The Prime Minister had declared Britain would play a leading role in post-war security guarantees for Ukraine, including putting UK servicemen and women “in harm’s way”.

Emergency

But after an emergency meeting of European leaders in Paris on Monday, Germany’s Chancellor Olaf Scholz said the suggestion was “completely premature”, “highly inappropriate”, and that he was “a little irritated”. Berlin fears Starmer’s plan could even spark a wider war.

The leaders had been scrambling to put on a united front in support of Kyiv after Donald Trump shocked the world by announcing peace talks with Vladimir Putin.

Marco Rubio, the US secretary of state, and Sergey Lavrov, Russia’s most senior foreign minister, met in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, on Tuesday to get that process under way.

Mr Scholz, who faces defeat in a national election on Sunday, left the talks in Paris early as the splits emerged over the creation of a European peacekeeping force to police any ceasefire.

Germany, Poland and Spain all signalled reluctance to deploy troops to the Ukraine as part of the settlement.

Britain, France and Sweden spoke out in favour as they attempted to put pressure on their European allies to step up their support for Kyiv.

“It is completely premature and the completely wrong time to be having this discussion now. I am even a little irritated by these debates,” Mr Scholz told reporters after leaving the talks for an election debate.

The Chancellor insisted discussions on possible European troop deployments were being held “over the heads of Ukrainians about the outcome of peace talks that haven’t even started”.

He added: “This is highly inappropriate, to put it bluntly and honestly – we don’t know what the outcome will be.”

Speaking after the summit, Sir Keir said he would travel to Washington to convey to Mr Trump that a US “backstop” was the only way to guarantee peace in Ukraine.

A Government source said it was not a surprise that countries were in different places on deploying troops.

While Poland’s Donald Tusk signalled he was not prepared to send troops to defend Kyiv he did add: “We will support, in terms of logistics and political support, countries that will possibly want to provide such guarantees in the future.”

UK earnings growth surge

BRITISH earnings growth accelerated for three months running, despite further signs of strain in the jobs market, as vacancies tumbled once again, official figures say.

The Office for National Statistics said average regular pay surged to 5.9% in the three months to December – up from 5.6% in the previous three months, and the fastest growth since the three months to April last year.

Wages outstripped Consumer Prices Index inflation by 3.4%, the ONS added.

The number of job vacancies pulled back once again – down 9,000 to 819,000 in the three months to January, while the number of UK workers on payrolls rose by 21,000 during January to 30.4 million.

Plans to release granny-eating beasts in Highlands WOLVES COULD ‘HALT GLOBAL WARMING’

WOLVES should be reintroduced to the Scottish Highlands to help meet net zero, researchers say.

Reintroducing the species – best known for eating Little Red Riding Hood’s granny – could help curb the population of red deer, which limits the spread of native woodland by eating tree saplings, according to a study published in the Ecological Solutions and Evidence journal.

A million tonnes of carbon could be removed from the atmosphere if the woodland around the Cairngorms, south-west, north-west and central Highlands was allowed to naturally regenerate, the study found.

This would contribute around five per cent of the UK’s carbon removal target to help offset emissions from elsewhere in the economy.

Wolves were eradicated from Scotland around 250 years ago, leaving the red deer population with no natural predators.

Red deer numbers have since shot up to around 400,000 in Scotland, despite efforts to keep the population under control by human intervention.

Miliband slammed by oil baron

THE US energy secretary put the boot into bungling Ed Miliband, calling his UK counterpart's net zero drive "lunacy".

Chris Wright argued the UK's roll-out of wind and solar had "not delivered any benefits" but had pushed up electricity prices and made manufacturing unviable. In a speech, he claimed net zero was being used as a justification to expand government power and "shrink human freedom".

Taking a swipe at UK policies pursued by Sir Keir Starmer and Miliband, Mr Wright warned: "This is impoverishing your own citizens in a delusion that this is somehow going to make the world a better place. It's not."

But speaking at the Arc 2025 conservative conference in London, Mr Wright – whose company Liberty Energy is a major oil and gas services provider – described the switch to wind and solar energy as "lunacy".

He told an audience: "This is not energy transition. This is lunacy."

Asylum hotels to continue

HOTELS are set to be used to house asylum seekers for up to four more years, the Home Office has admitted.

Sir Matthew Rycroft, the Home Office's top civil servant, said the department's aim was to "exit" hotels by the end of the Parliament, which is due at the latest by August 2029.

His statement to MPs contrasts with a declared pre-election ambition by Labour to "end the use of hotels for asylum seekers within 12 months" of recruiting 1,000 caseworkers to tackle the backlog of applications.

The party's manifesto did not set a similar timescale, but stated that a Labour Government would "end asylum hotels, saving the taxpayer billions of pounds."

Labour ministers have pledged their "intention" to end asylum hotels "as soon as possible."

The number of hotels reached a peak of 400 under the Tories in autumn 2023.

Dame Angela Eagle, the Border Security Minister, admitted there had been a net rise of six hotels but said that nine were to close by the end of March.

WE HAVE LANDED THE TELLY COUP OF THE CENTURY

By PATRICIA GOODMAN
news@sundaysport.co.uk

THE countdown has officially begun as ITV dropped the first trailer for the upcoming season of Celebrity Big Brother.

In an ad break during the finale of Love Island: All Stars, viewers saw the first teaser ahead of the long-awaited brand-new series of the iconic reality show.

But there's bigger news to come... much bigger...

Former Prime Minister BORIS JOHNSON is set to become one of the residents in the South African villa when the series returns in April.

An ITV insider said: "It is not exaggerating to say this is the telly coup of the century!"

Our source explained that reality TV chiefs had gone cold on politicians after Nigel Farage failed to make an impact on I'm A Celebrity.

But they added: "Boris is another thing altogether. Like him or loathe him, he's a telly natural and even people who dislike him are captivated by his wit and clowning."

While Boris is not a "done deal" bosses believe the former Tory leader – who was forced out of office after not eating a piece of birthday cake at Number 10 during the Covid lockdown – is "all but certain" to ink the deal in the coming days.

Insiders have been tight-lipped about Mr Johnson's fee but it's likely to be "substantial".

The star-studded version of the original social experiment is hosted by AJ Odudu and Will Best.

Last year, Celebrity Big Brother made its return to UK television with an explosive series that dominated conversations across social media.

It follows news that former Love Island hunk Chris Hughes has reportedly signed up for Celebrity Big Brother.

The 32-year-old appeared on the 2017 series of ITV's top dating show.

Commons pulls plug on pumps

PARLIAMENT has halted the installation of woke heat pumps – over concerns they're noisy and don't work.

There are three air source heat pumps in the House of Commons buildings (above), but no new installations have been made since 2022, according to data released under the Freedom of Information Act.

And a report into the feasibility of installing a new heat pump into the modern office block, Portcullis House, raised concerns over their acoustics and power supply.

It has now thrown Labour into a fresh hypocrisy row as opposition MPs said it was proof heat pumps "don't work" – despite the Government's push to install them into residential homes.

Richard Tice, Reform MP, said: "Parliament has installed three heat pumps, and every one of them has faced complaints for consuming too much electricity and generating excessive noise."

"Despite this, Labour pushes ahead with forcing the rest of us to adopt them, while refusing to use heat pumps themselves."

He added: "This perfectly highlights just how out of touch our leadership is with the British public."

Huge rise in NHS letter translations

AROUND 10% of patients referred to the NHS do not have functional English language skills, new data suggests.

Of the electronic referral letters sent to patients by NHS England last year, over 9% had to be translated into a foreign language, figures disclosed by the Government under transparency rules have shown.

The highest single number of translations on the e-Referral Service was for Urdu – according to the data, around 15% of translated referral letters were written in the South Asian language.

The second highest was Bengali, followed by Polish.

Translation rates appear to have more than doubled in the last five years – in 2020/21, 3.78% of e-Referral Service letters had to be translated.

The Conservatives have called for the NHS's translation and interpretation services to be shut down – calling them "a total waste of resources".

A SICKO mother put peanut butter on her fanny – then made her dog lick it off.

Brennah Montgomery, 31, recorded sexual acts between herself and her dog, cops in Las Vegas said.

Montgomery pleaded guilty to bestiality and will be required to register as a sex offender as a result of the plea deal.

Police found 153 animal sex videos – that appeared to be between Montgomery and her dog – according to an arrest report.

Five of the videos showed Montgomery's face or her partial face, while some videos showed her using peanut butter, and some videos were duplicates, police said.

Force

She admitted during a police interview that she did engage in sexual activities, but she claimed she did not force the dog to do such activities, the arrest report said.

During a search warrant at a home, cops said they found the dog.

of a dog were posted in February 2024, with the caption: "Although it saddens me, I realise now is the best chance for both of us – new beginnings will bring immense joy and success, especially for dearest Piper!"

"I am no longer able to provide her with the care and attention she deserves.

“Home is where the heart is. Let’s help Piper find her sanctuary! If you have any leads or recommendations for trustworthy adoption centres, please let me know!”

Montgomery - who also admitted illegal pornography offences - is scheduled to be sentenced on May 12.

Poll shows fear of hospitals 'in ruin'

CRUMBLING local hospital buildings are leaving Brits fearing collapsing roofs and rat attacks while being operated on.

Almost 20% say their local hospital building is not a safe place to receive care, while 30% do not know if it is safe, according to a poll.

It comes as analysis suggests the repair bill at 18 crumbling hospitals could reach £5.7billion due to the delay in replacing them.

Hospital infrastructure fears were revealed in a survey of 2,000 patients commissioned by the Liberal Democrats.

Liberal Democrats.
While 27% thought their local hospital roof may collapse, 26% feared rodents and insects may infest the building.

And as a third said they thought the power may go off, 20% feared a sewage leak or flooding.

More dosh to defend immigrants

HUMAN rights lawyer Keir Starmer is set to bung millions in extra funding – to human rights lawyers.

The Government is set to boost spending on lawyers for immigrants by almost a third – despite growing anger over a string of controversial asylum rulings.

Labour ministers have tabled proposals for a "significant increase" in legal aid – the rates paid to lawyers who represent defendants including illegal migrants fighting to stay in Britain.

Under the plans, fees would increase by at least 10%, with officials saying the move will help clear the 100,000-strong backlog of asylum cases.

They come amid anger over a string of recent immigration rulings, which have seen migrants given the right to stay in Britain under human rights rules.

The contentious verdicts have raised growing questions over the role of immigration tribunals and Britain's ongoing membership of the European Convention on Human Rights.

PM Starmer (above) has also been accused of implementing "rule by lawyers".

Tackling speech crimes is attack on civil liberties

HUNDREDS of people have been charged with online "speech crimes" amid claims from the Trump administration that civil liberties are under threat in Britain.

Almost 300 people have been charged with spreading illegal "fake news" or of sending "threatening communications" since the Online Safety Act came into force in 2023.

Dozens have received convictions under the act.

Multiple people were charged under the law following last summer's rioting in the wake of the Southport stabbings.

The riots also led to what are believed to have been the first convictions under the new rules.

Data from the Crown Prosecution Service, disclosed under a Freedom of Information request, shows that 292 people have been charged with communications offences since the law came into effect in October 2023.

This includes 23 people who were charged with sending a false communication and hundreds more for sending a threatening communication, while 67 have been convicted.

Flatmate dumped remains in river...

POSTMAN CHOPPED UP IN ROW OVER CORNFLAKES

FOUND IN SUITCASE:
Victim Edwin Echevarria

By BRAD CHADWICK
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A MANIAC murdered and then dismembered his flatmate – for eating his cornflakes!

Christian Millet, 23, is charged with second-degree murder just a week after 65-year-old Edwin Echevarria's torso was found stuffed inside a suitcase floating down the East River in New York.

Millet allegedly confessed to knocking postman Echevarria to the floor, stomping on his head and using a makeshift ice pick to stab him 14 times inside their shared apartment.

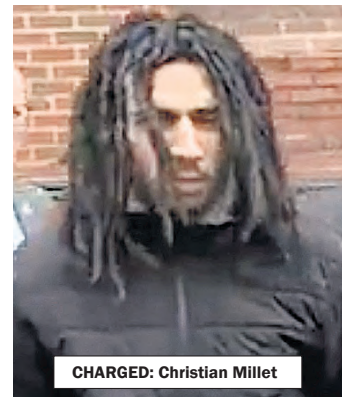

He allegedly admitted to dragging the body to the bathtub and cutting it up with a kitchen knife, sources say.

Savage

The savage killing appears to have stemmed from a fight between the roommates over cornflakes, according to sources.

"Echevarria kept helping himself to Millet's cereal and while that's annoying, it's hardly an excuse for a killing as grisly as this," the source revealed.

Investigators began probing the disturbing case when a passing boat spotted a suitcase floating in the river.

CHARGED: Christian Millet

Police opened the luggage and made the stomach-churning discovery.

It's unclear how long the suitcase was drifting in the water for.

Millet was nabbed once officers secured a search warrant for the apartment that he and Echevarria shared, sources added.

Millet happened to be at home and he was taken to the NYPD's 7th Precinct, where he is said to have confessed.

Women's rights 'split' Taliban

THE Taliban faces a split over women's rights that has become public and could lead to a full-blown conflict in Afghanistan.

Mullah Haibatullah Akhundzada, the country's supreme leader, is battling a rebellion from senior cabinet ministers over his ban on girls' education and restrictions on the economic participation of women.

Akhundzada, who's led the Taliban since 2016 and is now Afghanistan's de-facto leader, is at odds with interior minister Sirajuddin Haqqani, defence minister Mullah Yaqoob and the deputy foreign minister Sher Mohammad Abbas Stanikzai – who all want the Taliban to become more progressive.

ACTRESS Britt Ekland has blasted a woke university for warning its students who may be "triggered" by her nudity in The Wicker Man.

Britt's character danced naked to seduce a policeman played by Edward Woodward in the classic 1973 movie.

The film has now been given a trigger warning by bosses at the University of Hertfordshire, who fear it may be "too much" for today's sensitive students.

The movie is on the syllabus of a master's degree in folklore at the uni.

But students on the course – typically aged over 21 – have been told they can skip it if they are worried about the "depiction of nudity".

Swede Britt, now 82, said: "Excuse my language, but it's bollocks! In 52 years, I have never ever had a comment saying, 'You disturbed me for the rest of my life'."

"The whole thing is absurd."

Squirt gun heist takes the pistol

A WOMAN faces 20 years in prison after trying to rob a bank using a water pistol.

Ciara Brascom took the squirt gun with her to the TD Bank in Princeton, New Jersey.

The 39-year-old, clad in a Covid mask, red glasses and a blue hat (above), hid the toy gun in a pocket and whipped it out as she reached the counter.

She passed a note that read: "Give me the money," and threatened to "use the gun if the bank's alarm system was activated," according to prosecutors.

A second cashier escorted her to the bank's vault, where she snatched up cash and then ran off.

Brascom admitted to authorities "certain [unspecified] financial difficulties fuelled her" to rob a bank.

She said she bought a pack of water pistols and can of black spray paint to "make it look more realistic".

LOVE Your Pet Day encourages all owners to pamper their pets by giving them an extra treat, getting them groomed, or taking them on an extra-long walk.

The walk idea may be a poor one if your pet is a goldfish, of course.

Thursday's "unofficial" national event is a day set aside to give extra attention to and pamper your pets that you love every day.

Our pets give us these benefits without asking for anything in return. So today, it is our turn to pay them back by getting them an extra-special treat, a new toy, or just spending some extra special time with them. Whatever you decide to do, be sure to spoil and appreciate your pets!

Some ladies love their pets so much, they even let their fur babies – to use that ghastly term – appear in the shot when they are talking sexy pictures.

'Dressing up brings out my wildest kinky side'

...WITH ANGELA BRUCKNER, 34C, FROM PUTNEY, SW LONDON

WHAT turns me on the most is getting dressed up!

Wearing kinky outfits brings out different sides to me... often my most wildest and filthiest! I love bondage outfits... I've got a hot black PVC bodice I wear with wet look stockings. When I wear that with my whip I'm very dominant. Equally I enjoy being submissive, and I'll wear a leather bondage belt outfit that makes me look constrained. It leaves almost nothing to the imagination.

Slutty

My nurse uniform dress, which is very short and reveals a lot of bust, looks great with white stockings, and makes me feel sweet and playful. In my cheeky cop outfit I'm very bossy and authoritative in the bedroom and in a maid's uniform I pretend I'm an innocent employee who gets taken advantage of by my boss. I've also got a cute bunny girl outfit and a school uniform. I have thigh high boots which I wear with the shortest, tightest pink dress. I look like a hooker and that REALLY brings out my slutty side!"

Mum faces 80 sexual crime raps

A WOMAN was nicked over allegations of EIGHTY individual sex crimes involving underage victims.

Sara Sellers, (above) of Shallotte in North Carolina, was charged with 20 counts each of statutory rape of a child under the age of 15, statutory sex offence with a child under 15, and indecent liberties with a child, according to the Brunswick County Sheriff's Office.

The 44-year-old married mother-of-two was also charged with 10 counts of statutory sex offence with a child by an adult, plus 10 counts of statutory rape of a child by adult.

Investigators have not specified the number of Sellers' alleged victims.

However, in court, prosecutors said two of the alleged victims were 12-year-old boys.

Detectives are still interviewing two other boys who may've been targeted by Sellers.

The alleged sexual assaults happened from 2018-19.

Sellers has been married for 22 years and has two daughters.

Anyone who may've been a victim has been asked to come forward.

Ring of bells isn't a-peeling

A VILLAGER complained that Sunday morning church bells are chiming too early – at 9.30am.

The bells at St John the Baptist Church in Hugglescote, Leics, have rung continuously since the 1900s.

But the vicar has been forced to defend the chimes after a single complaint on Facebook that their ringing between 9.30am and 10am on Sundays was "too early" for some villagers.

In the social media post, Maisy Ron said: "Was anyone else woken up by the church bells this morning?"

Ms Ron added that 9am is pretty early for them to be ringing non-stop for 30 minutes.

She continued: "I get that it's tradition, but surely there's a way to keep it without disturbing people who work night shifts, have young kids, [are] very ill or just need a bit of extra rest."

"A little consideration for the community would go a long way."

Hundreds leapt to the defence of the bells in their comments under her post, with many pointing out tolling bells before a Sunday service is usual.

KRISTIN REVEALS STARS WERE WORRIED ABOUT SHOWING NIPS...

CHANGING ATTITUDES: Kristin says today's stars flaunt nips more often KRISTIN Davis shares why the cast of Sex and the City were "scared" to show their nipples on the hit drama.

The actress, who plays Charlotte York, recently opened up on her podcast 'Are You a Charlotte?' about how the perception of women has changed since the show aired from 1998-2004.

Following the original series, Davis also reprised her role in two movies and the current Max series, And Just Like That.

Davis said during her conversation with clinical psychologist Dr Hillary Goldsher: "Look at how people present themselves now. It's totally normal to have almost everyone on a red carpet where, potentially, their nipples are showing."

"This never would have happened back in the olden days."

"We were scared about showing nipples on the show. We were like, 'Oh my God, they want us to show our nipples?' We were so worried about it. Right?"

"Like, would we be shunned? Would we be, you know, cast out by the film world or whatever – which is kind of insane to think about now."

Kristin starred in Sex and the City with Sarah Jessica Parker (Carrie Bradshaw), Cynthia Nixon (Miranda Hobbes) and Kim Cattrall (Samantha Jones).

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Labour will steal your business

UNHAPPY:
Spud Man,
aka Ben
Newman

MARKET towns traditionally had traders standing side by side selling their own produce to their neighbours.

But that was before humans being humans decided that was all too easy, so we needed something interfering, irritating and mostly pretty pointless.

So we invented a system that could bring all that negativity and uselessness to the masses – a sort of showbiz for ugly people – and called it politics.

Then we leased off parts of politics to jumped-up no-marks with galloping addictions to rules and hi-vis coats and called them "councils".

Maybe they too should have another name beginning with "p", though. Like "poison".

In Tamworth, the town is now like many others around the country, watching its high street shoppers disappear to Amazon, its kids flee south for work, and generally sitting around wondering when someone's going to come along to, no doubt, make everything even worse.

For Ben Newman, that happened last week.

Drones

He received a note from his local corpy drones informing him that the town centre spot from which he has been selling jacket potatoes for 22 years "had" to be moved.

This is despite Ben having paid a cool £100,000 for the site those two decades ago.

Not anymore, local prodnoses said. We are replacing your successful business, and all the people you employ, with... a FLOWERBED.

With NO compensation offered for his loss of business.

With the only alternative pitch offered to him smack bang in front of a church which he's astute enough to know a different part of the council will find reasons for him NOT to open back up again outside.

Oh, and the small matter of the TEARING UP of his £100,000 contract – meaning the location of his long-standing, popular, well-known business is now effectively worthless.

All of that's mad to start with, obviously, but what makes it even madder is that Ben Newman is far better known than anyone else ever to emerge from this bucolic North Midlands town.

Because unless you live on another planet, you'll know Ben Newman by another name.

He is aka Spud Man, undoubtedly king of the jacket potato, with his social media posts garnering millions and millions of views from fans all around the world.

People have travelled from as far afield as the United States, Malaysia, South Africa and Japan – among many others – just for one of his classic spuds.

Fellow local traders in Tamworth love Spud Man because the footfall he attracts is economic music to their starving ears.

And that's because not even mighty Amazon can beat the smell, taste and texture of Ben's freshly baked jacket spuds.

So, while hungry punters wait for the inevitable massive queue to calm down at Spud Man's trailer, they visit other retailers in the vicinity and buy stuff.

Meaning everybody wins. But no. The Labour-led council in Tamworth, who as far as I know have never run a successful business between them, still knows best.

And no wonder. They're obviously looking to their grown-ups in Westminster and following the precise business zeal and grasp of economics that has made Chancellor Rachel Reeves dazzle like, um... an ever-deflating balloon.

"Growth", they keep on saying. But what they mean is growth of outrageous falsehoods about not-stolen phones, dodgy expenses claims, curry and beers, suits and glasses and fancy dress freebies, and blatantly breaking Covid rules too.

And then leaving their all-too-generous tip whether it's to Spud Man, car manufacturers, bakers, market stalls, the oil industry, and the entire North in general.

"Vote Labour", they hiss, "or we'll steal your business".

NAT'S BACK AND READY FOR YOU!

By JO ALLEN news@sundaysport.co.uk

SHE was one of the BIGGEST glamour modelling sensations of the 1980s and Nineties...

And now Natalie Jay is back with a BANG!

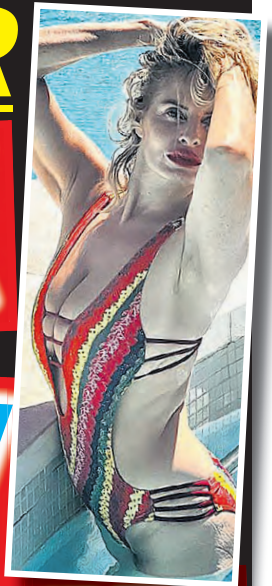

Aged 50, Natalie is bursting back onto the glamour scene after setting up her own Fanvue page.

She explained: "I thought, 'Why not?' and reading about Fanvue it seemed like the ideal platform for me to return to modelling."

Natalie hopes her page will be popular with her old fans and draw a new generation of admirers.

She explained: "There are probably 18 and 19-year-old lads out there whose dads used to look at my boobs in Sunday Sport back in the day."

"It's amazing to think I can still be modelling full-frontal."

New frog gets name from Leo

A NEWLY-discovered species of frog has been named after Hollywood star Leonardo DiCaprio in recognition of his environmental activism.

The amphibian, Phyllonastes dicaprio, was identified in Ecuador's Western Mountain Forest by researchers from three institutions, where it lives at altitudes of 1,330-1,705m above sea level.

Scientists chose to honour the 50-year-old actor (above) for his ongoing dedication to environmental causes – including his support for conservation initiatives in Ecuador and efforts to halt oil drilling in the country's Yasuni National Park.

The frog differs from its closest relatives in its body length and distinctive finger shape.

It is one of seven new species uncovered by researchers from Ecuador's National Institute of Biodiversity, the Catholic University of Ecuador, and the San Francisco University of Quito.

Zoo paints donkeys to make dosh

A CHINESE zoo admitted to painting donkeys black and white – to pass them off as zebras – to try and attract more visitors.

The Zibo City amusement park in Shandong province came under fire when internet users noticed the donkeys were disguised as the more exotic striped beasts.

After a heated debate about the animals, park representatives admitted the paint job was a marketing strategy.

"The owner did it just for fun," one member of staff admitted.

Online users blasted the zoo for its "misleading and unethical" treatment of the donkeys, for the sake of making money.

The zoo later confirmed that dye had been used on the poor creatures but insisted that it was non-toxic.

Sweary parrot copies boozers

A FOUL-beaked parrot called Rio tells punters to "fk off" and calls them "wankers" and "twats" at the Clifton Hotel in Cardiff.

Landlady Kerry Chapman, 53, reckons the macaw picked up the bad language from her regulars.

She said: "He used to be shy, but he's got a foul mouth now!"

FOUNDER: Hugh Hefner

By SUZIE SHELTON news@sundaysport.co.uk

THEY said the top shelf magazine was dead...

They were wrong.

The daddy of them all – Playboy – is back on the newsstands after a five-year break. Model and actress Lori Harvey is on the cover of Playboy in the iconic mag's first print issue since it suspended its operations during the dawn of the pandemic.

Playboy – founded in December 1953 – shuttered its print operations in 2020, after facing struggles with former boss Hugh Hefner's death in 2017 and the floundering of the global print business.

Rebirth

The mag went online only but now it's back with a bang – paving the way for the rebirth of the top-shelf fanny mag.

And to celebrate its return, here are some of its most famous models of all time...

THE ULTIMATE GIRLFRIEND EXPERIENCE!

Swap Messages, Pictures & Videos with Gorgeous Girls!

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Sam,

I'M 22 and have just returned from a year's break in Japan where I was teaching English to students.

For the first six months I was based in Tokyo and got stuck into the nightlife, which is incredible.

I hooked up with another ex-pat and he introduced me to the sex clubs, which were outrageous.

Our regular port of call was called Sex Kittens and inside it was wall-to-wall with cute Japanese girls dressed in college girl uniforms.

For a £10 entrance fee you could feel their tits and arse. For another £10 the girls would give you a blowjob in the club and for £25 you were led to a cubicle for a private dance and a shag.

Every so often the club organised a private party and they were really wild. The entrance fee to these events was £50 but you really got your money's worth.

First off there were about 25 girls wrestling each other nude in a giant paddling pool of noodles with sauce.

Any bloke who was brave enough to get in there was rewarded with blowjobs and, if he could keep hold of them for long enough, a shag.

After that there was a game show-type stage event where the five girls stuck their arse through curtains and blokes took it in turns porking them up the arse.

Then it was a free-for-all with shagging going on in every corner of the club.

I had a great time, but since returning to England I've not managed to find anything that compares.

I looked on the internet but all the websites I visited were rubbish. Please help!

FH, Essex

Sam says...

GET yourself a job in Tokyo.

Dear Sam,

I WAS clearing out the boxroom at our house the other day when I came across some holiday snaps taken 50 years ago.

One showed my wife-to-be coming out of the sea in a tiny red bikini looking absolutely ravishing.

I showed them to the missus before we went to bed and her reaction was sensational. We had the greatest sex since that time on our hols.

How about that?

GS, Lancs

Sam says...

YOU must have been in 70th heaven.

I've got two women to satisfy my sexual needs

Dear Sam,

I AM a 45-year-old man and have been with my girlfriend for 15 years. I recently started going to the gym to get in shape and got myself a female personal trainer.

I have a good sex life with my girlfriend and she really satisfies me in the bedroom.

I get on well with my trainer and after my workout last week she suggested we have a quick sauna.

Well, she ended up giving me a blowjob. Since then I can't get her out of my head.

When I have a workout with her, we are now really touchy-feely.

I am still having sex with my girlfriend and still enjoy that as well.

What the hell should I do?

RS, email

Sam says...

THANK your lucky stars and carry on enjoying yourself.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week SAM TYE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

Shy office babe had no inhibitions in bedroom

Dear Sam,

A NEW girl has just started at the office where I work.

She's quite shy but has lovely curly red hair and great tits.

I thought I'd try to bring her out of her shell a bit, so I invited her out for a drink after work.

We got on well and I was thrilled when she later agreed to come back to my place.

She soon lost her shyness and was onto me, thrusting her hot tongue in my mouth.

I immediately went for her giant tits and her nipples were like cherry stones as I tweaked them and sucked them.

After a while she grabbed my head and pushed it down between her long legs as she pulled her skirt up to reveal the moist triangle in her panties.

Squealing

I eased them aside and took a deep breath of her musty scent and probed her ginger lips with my tongue.

Within minutes she was squealing in the throes of passion, which ended in a crescendo of orgasm.

She was quite wobbly on her legs after that, so she sank to her knees and took my rock-hard cock between her lips. Her oral was out of this world!

She tore off my clothes and spread her thighs wide so I could slide easily deep into her sopping fanny.

After a few minutes of humping, she flipped me over and eased herself down on my throbbing tool.

She expertly rode me, making me explode in ecstasy.

The only drawback is that now

I think I've fallen in love with her. But she's told me that she can't see me any more because she's getting married soon.

What can I do about it?

AP, Kent

Sam says...

CALM down and get real. You've only seen her once, you great big baby.

Dear Sam,

I HAD to e-mail you to tell you about Sunday – my best day of the week.

I'm married to a wonderful woman who has 38DD breasts. It really turns her on when I fondle and lick her erect nipples and this gets me going too.

She also likes to give me a tit-rub until I climax.

We normally start our games at around 8.30am. First she straddles me and then bends over so that her pendulous mammaries are dangling just above my face.

After a while she guides my rigid rod into her and bounces up and down on it while I reach up and tweak her nipples until they are as stiff as my manhood.

It's only a matter of seconds before she screams out in ecstasy as she reaches her first orgasm.

Eventually I climax too, then I take one of her nipples in my mouth.

I kiss, lick and suck it for ages until she's begging me to enter her – which I do with one almighty thrust.

I ride her like a stallion, kissing each breast in turn as I pump away at her.

But the other day she suddenly announced that she was thinking of having her breasts reduced.

What should I do?

PJ, email

Sam says...

ALL you can do is point out how important they are to you.

Dear Sam,

THERE's a bird in my local pub who everyone fancies. She's a 21-year-old brunette with huge tits.

And she gives blowjobs to anyone who beats her at pool.

The other week, she gave me some photos and said: "They're for your eyes only and wait until you get home to look at them."

I rushed home and couldn't believe my eyes when I saw the snaps.

They were pics of her showing everything.

The next time I saw her she asked if I'd enjoyed the pics. When I said yes, she invited herself to my place.

I suggested we make a porn vid she was all for it.

She started flicking her bean while I filmed her, then she sucked me off.

She gave me a fantastic tit-wank and I exploded all over her face.

She then produced some handcuffs from her bag, tied me to the bed and emptied the contents of my fridge on to me – they were all licked off my knob.

This did nothing for me as I thought it was a terrible waste of food, but she seemed to enjoy it.

We see each other twice a week, but it's costing me a fortune in food.

Should I tell her to cut out the food sex?

VT, Somerset

Sam says...

YOU could but she might tell you to cut out the sex!

Jeweller hunk is a gem of a lover

Dear Sam,

I WENT to a jeweller's with my boyfriend a couple of months ago. He was buying me an engagement ring – but I ended up ditching him for the hunky guy behind the counter.

As soon as I walked in and saw him, my heart skipped a beat. I chose a ring and, as we left, the jeweller pressed a card in my hand.

I rang him later and we arranged to meet that night as my fella was working until midnight.

At the end of the evening he invited me back to his place. I eagerly accepted and when we got inside he grabbed me and gave me a passionate kiss.

I could feel myself getting moist as he slid his hand up my top, resting on my breast.

I felt as if I was about to burst. I undid his trousers and grabbed his manhood, letting it swell in my hand.

Thrusts

He led me to the sofa and I leaned over and took the tip of his cock between my lips.

He was moaning with every lick and slurp and then said he was about to come. So I clambered on to his lap and guided him inside my aching pussy.

A few thrusts later we both came. I stayed for two hours and we made love in loads of positions.

That was the beginning of our affair. Three weeks later I told my boyfriend it was all over between us and my jeweller lover and I now live together.

But my family won't have anything to do with us and it's breaking my heart.

After all, I can't help falling in love. Any advice?

AK, North Yorks

Sam says...

YES – ignore them. I wish you both all the luck in the world.

SEXY Sam says her love life is literally up and down – because she loves to shag at theme parks. The model was once given the ride of her life when she got stuck in a haunted house with her fella. But rather than wait quietly to be rescued, the pair seized the chance to enjoy a quickie. Here she is showing off her 32Ds in a new photoshoot. The Brighton-born beauty revealed: “At first I was nervous about being trapped in the dark, so I reached out to grab my man’s hand. “But I missed and ended up with my fingers wrapped around his cock! “Needless to say, he did not need any encouragement. “And we both left with a grin on our faces! “We even got a refund – so we grabbed a taxi home and carried on there.”

FOCUS ON THE BIG CALCUTTA CUP CLASH

By JACK FARLEY

BEN Earl revealed the agony of rewatching recent Calcutta Cup failures has left England gunning for redemption as he admitted Scotland's last visit to Twickenham caused him to question his suitability for international rugby.

Gregor Townsend's team are chasing a record-breaking fifth consecutive win over their fierce rivals during Saturday's pivotal Guinness Six Nations showdown at Allianz Stadium.

Part of England's preparation to end Scottish domination stretching back to 2021 has involved analysing painful footage of their two defeats in the fixture during the reign of head coach Steve Borthwick.

Back-row forward Earl came off the bench in the first of those matches – a 29-23 loss in south-west London at the start of the Borthwick era – before being dropped for the remainder of the 2023 championship following a round-two cameo against Italy.

"It certainly feels like a big week in terms of this is a team that's got the wood over us at the moment," he said.

"This is a team that we've not had a huge amount of joy against, certainly for a good chunk of time. It's got a big-game feel to it and that more times than not has brought the best out of us.

Motivation

"We've watched the last two games we've played (against Scotland); that's almost unidentifiable in terms of what we've been as a team when we've been at our best over the last couple of years since Steve's come in.

"We've watched some of that back, we've learnt some lessons. We're not going to be short of motivation, that's for sure."

Having initially been jettisoned by Borthwick, Earl returned from a period of soul searching to become a key cog in the England side which finished third at the 2023 Rugby World Cup in France and then remain a regular.

The 27-year-old Saracens player, who started last year's 30-21 loss at Murrayfield, feels a shift in mindset was central to his revival at Test level.

"I distinctly remember 2023 Scotland at home was a big turning point for me in terms of I had to learn a really harsh lesson," said Earl.

"That was a time where the penny really dropped: that I was unfit, that I didn't know what it takes to become a top-class international rugby player, I didn't know what it took to play under Steve. All of that, really.

"It's not necessarily unfit in terms of physiologically. It's like, 'I'm shattered, can I keep going?' is a different mindset to 'I'm shattered, I think I've emptied myself and got nothing left'. You've always got more."

"Steve's a big believer in the back-rowers being the ones who run the furthest, work the hardest.

You always think that until you get thrown into the Colosseum. It certainly felt that was a day for me that I learnt the most."

Following defeat to reigning champions Ireland on the opening weekend, England catapulted themselves back into title contention courtesy of a last-gasp

26-25 success over France on February 8.

Flanker Tom Curry trained on Monday as he manages a chronic hip condition, while lock George Martin, who is nursing a knee injury, took part in a modified session.

Curry believes the thrilling defeat of Les Bleus has created intense competition in the camp.

Heels

"Obviously the first 48 hours (after a win) are really good but the main thing is even last week's training and today's training are edgy as in people are pushing," said the 26-year-old.

"It's not comfortable. I have won big games and sometimes you come back in and the first session everyone is on their heels a bit. But everyone is on their toes.

"It doesn't mean everything is going right but it means people are pushing and that's a really good feeling when it is not perfect, there is stuff to work on, but you know the attitude is right."

For Scotland, key backs Finn Russell and Darcy Graham are both "in the hunt" to be involved in Saturday's showdown with England at Allianz Stadium, according to assistant coach Pete Horne.

Talismanic co-captain Russell and free-scoring wing Graham were cast as doubts for the Calcutta Cup clash after suffering head injuries following a nasty collision with each other in the first half of last Sunday's 32-18 defeat by Ireland at Murrayfield.

However, both players remain with the squad and have been taking part in light training at the Scots' warm-weather base in Oliva Nova, south-east Spain, over the past few days. Their 12-day stand-down period from full contact rugby is due to end on Thursday – the day the squad fly from Spain to London – and if they pass the required protocols, they will be free to train fully on Friday with a view to playing against the Auld Enemy on Saturday.

Involved

"They're both progressing well through the protocols," Horne said, speaking from Spain on Monday. "There are still a couple of days left until we finalise the team and things. There's a fair bit of training to do.

"I think depending on how that goes over the next couple of days, there's a chance that they could both play. They're not full training, but we did some light skills today and they were both involved.

"Last week they were working with the physios and the doctor, getting through the early stages of it. And then today they joined in for a bit of skills and things. We'll see how they are off the back of that today.

"They'll do a bit of training again tomorrow [Tuesday] and then see how we go from there, but they're both progressing pretty well. They're in good spirits and they've certainly been a part of the sessions and things so far.

"They've still got certain things that they need to tick off. There won't be any risks taken. I'm sure the medics are right on top of it. And depending on how the next couple of days go, they've both got a chance of playing on Saturday."

Russell was able to walk off the pitch unaided against Ireland, but the prognosis looked notably bleaker for Graham when he lay prone on the buggy while being carted off and then taken to hospital. Both players are now deemed to be at a similar stage of their recovery.

"Darcy went to the hospital, but it was more precautionary," said Horne. "He got everything checked out and by all accounts, it all went well. He got good results."

"They're both progressing through at the same point. They were training together earlier in the week, going through their protocols together. They both gradually returned to training. They're both in the hunt."

Returning

Scotland have added Bath centre Cam Redpath, Edinburgh scrum-half Ali Price and Edinburgh wing Ross McCann to their squad, with centre Matt Currie dropping out due to concussion, back-rower Alexander Masibaka returning to his club Soyaux Angoulême and scrum-half George Horne having a facial injury assessed. Scotland are aiming to win the Calcutta Cup for the fifth year running this weekend after ending a 38-year wait for victory at Twickers when they won there in 2021.

"We've not done too well (at Twickenham) until recently, but that's what's great about it, the boys have got experience of going down there and getting results," said Horne. "I think we've shown we've got the game that can cause them a lot of problems."

"But they're in a good spot at the moment. They're off the back of a brilliant result (against France) so they'll be full of confidence. It's a massive game for them, with us having won the last four."

"There'll be a little bit of needle to add to what's always a very big game with the rivalry that's there. It's a good challenge for our boys to get back on the horse and stay in the tournament."

LULAMBA

Lulamba set for late Adonis run

FESTIVAL FOCUS

NICKY Henderson is giving serious consideration to running Triumph Hurdle favourite Lulamba, rather than his stablemate Palladium, in Saturday's Adonis at Kempton.

The Seven Barrows handler was initially minded to wait until the Cheltenham Festival with Lulamba following his scintillating British debut at Ascot in mid-January.

A few days later German Derby winner Palladium, an expensive purchase by the Bamford family who sponsor the Triumph Hurdle through their company JCB, made a winning hurdling bow for the yard at Huntingdon.

Palladium, who is still a colt, looked set to be the stable's representative in this weekend's Grade Two in Sunbury, but speaking at a Jockey Club press morning at his yard on Monday, Henderson revealed he may yet send Lulamba into battle instead.

He said: "I thought we weren't going to run Lulamba but he's terribly well, he'd have to have a racecourse gallop anyway and the other fellow (Palladium) is good at what he does."

"Lulamba has only had two runs in his whole life. I don't know, we'll see, they are both going to work tomorrow and then we'll decide."

Palladium was a two-length victor at Huntingdon and the Seven Barrows handler has taken a positive view of the form.

"There are two things about Palladium's Huntingdon race, the form has already turned out to be red-hot and secondly the time was fantastic," he added.

"He was six seconds faster than the other division on the same card and the second and fourth have come out and won since."

"We're thinking Royal Ascot and Melbourne Cup. I tend to take notice of the times only when it's in our favour, if you're in the slower division we tend not to read that one!"

"Lulamba did look incredibly good (at Ascot). He's very laid back and has a lovely attitude to it, but he has only had two runs in his life."

"It just occurs the way the other horse has been working and schooling, does he really need to run? He's done a mountain of racing. I think he might be better where he is, I don't know, we'll just see after they've worked."

QUEENS WISH looked a hugely promising prospect for Dan Skelton on her debut for the yard and can follow up in the Bet £10 Get £10 At Yeeehaaa. Bet Novices' Hurdle at Doncaster.

The six-year-old mare won an Irish point-to-point in April 2024 and had been originally sent to Laura Morgan by her owner, former footballer Alan Rogers.

She never ran for the Leicestershire handler though, and appeared under Skelton's name for the first time at Newcastle in January.

Sent off a heavily backed odds-on favourite, the result was never in any doubt as she beat the Morgan-trained Forsa Bay by over eight lengths.

Skelton is clearly not concerned about running her against the geldings again and she can take this on the way to bigger targets in the spring.

By MIKE FRANCIS

Mark Walford has his string in fine form and he can strike for the second time in seven days with Farmer Jimmy in the Follow Us On X @yeeehaaaabab Handicap Hurdle.

Having shown little since his bumper debut, Farmer Jimmy was sent into handicap company and won off a mark of 94 at Wetherby.

As that was a conditional riders' race, he escapes a penalty and should be hard to beat.

Corking

Ben Pauling's good form shows no sign of abating and No Questions Asked should take the world of beating in the Racing TV Members Day EBF 'National Hunt' Novices' Hurdle at Ludlow.

Already seven, he is making up for lost time as having won at Carlisle and Hereford this season, he ran a corking race in the Listed Sidney Banks Hurdle at

NAP TRAINER:
Dan Skelton

Huntingdon last time out. On ratings he had no right to win that but having seen off the challenge of Jax Junior, he was mugged close home by Califet En Vol.

As this is a qualifier for the EBF Final at Sandown next month, that looks a likely reason he is turned out again so quickly.

Philip Hobbs and Johnson White have enjoyed a very profitable campaign and while they perhaps lack a standout star, they have plenty of promising young horses.

Among those is The Hardest Geezer who, while he is a chaser in the making, can continue to progress over smaller obstacles in the Michael Lumsden Memorial Handicap Hurdle.

Rivals

He won despite not looking the most straightforward ride at Taunton, so could be better than the bare form.

On the all-weather at Kempton, Harry Charlton runs an interesting newcomer in Papa Oscar in the Unibet Zero% Mission Restricted Maiden Stakes.

The already gelded son of Expert Eye is a half-brother to Juliet Foxrot, a Grade One winner in America for Juddmonte. A handful of his rivals have previously run but not shown much, so he could have been found a decent opening for his debut.

Clive Cox's Cracking Gold looked a little rusty when second after the best part of 200 days off at Southwell recently.

He chased home Symbol Of Light, now rated 102, while Cracking Gold's mark stayed the same ahead of the Try Unibet's New Smartview Racecards Handicap.

KELLY BACK IN ENGLAND SIDE

CHLOE Kelly has been called up to the England squad to replace her injured Arsenal team-mate Beth Mead.

The forward is one of two replacements ahead of the Lionesses' Nations League fixtures against Portugal and Spain, with Aston Villa defender Lucy Parker also joining up in place of Lotte Wubben-Moy, who has withdrawn.

Kelly, on loan at Arsenal from Manchester City, made the first appearance of her second spell with the Gunners as a substitute in their 5-0 victory over local rivals Tottenham on Sunday.

Kelly's call-up is the latest chapter in a dramatic few months for the 27-year-old, who boss Sarina Wiegman last week said was left out of her latest England camp due to a lack of playing time this season.

On Tuesday, Wiegman said: "She hasn't played enough in my opinion. She moved clubs now, but last autumn she hardly played."

"As I said, she's got some credits, but over that time she played so few minutes so let's first now get started at Arsenal, get some minutes in, start playing and showing what you're about, and then we can revisit that again."

"We had a good conversation yesterday and she understands she's not out from the Euros," Kelly, who scored the winner in the final against Germany to secure England their first major silverware at the 2022 Euros, went public in January about frustrations with her lack of playing time and a situation at parent club City she felt had taken a toll on her mental health.

She had been included in Wiegman's final England squad of 2024, but was forced to withdraw after sustaining a concussion.

Kelly seemed to have accepted her fate when it came to her exclusion in the latest camp, telling Sky Sports: "I think it's clear that I need to get football under my belt."

"I put so much trust in (Wiegman), so I think what's best as a team is me not going to this camp and getting that smile on my face and football in my legs."

England play Portugal in the Algarve on February 21 before taking on Spain – who they lost to in the 2023 World Cup final – on February 26 at Wembley.

The Lionesses have further fixtures ahead of them in their Nations League group, which also features Belgium, before kicking off their European title defence in July.

KNOCK: Harry Kane

Kane a big injury doubt for Celtic tie

By GAVIN McCAFFERTY

MIKE Forshaw says that Bayern Munich striker Harry Kane sat out training on Monday afternoon and is a fitness doubt for the Champions League game against Celtic.

The England captain, who scored the winner in Bayern's 2-1 first-leg win over the Hoops last Wednesday, suffered a facial injury towards the end of Saturday's goalless Bundesliga draw at Bayer Leverkusen.

Asked about Kane's availability for Tuesday evening's second leg of the knockout phase play-off, head coach Vincent Kompany said: "It's nothing bad with Harry, but we've not got much time to recover."

"Sometimes you need an extra day. But we'll see how Harry feels in the morning. I'm assuming it's nothing bad. We've not had long to recover."

When pressed later in his pre-match press conference, the Belgian said: "I was a bit blurry in how I said it, whether he's fit or not. Maybe a bit of a red herring. I can only say that we'll see (on Tuesday)."

Kompany also has a doubt over the sick Joao Palhinha but he knows his side are expected to win even though a draw would see them go through.

"I'm talking here to people who understand it," he said. "It's the same for us as well as Celtic. You need to win every home game and make the difference. It's the same every week, for us and Celtic."

"When you're playing against teams who are used to dominating and scoring lots of goals in their domestic league, then you have a team who are always dangerous when they get forward."

"Celtic showed that as well, but we did well against them. And we still have to play the second half of this tie. The parameters haven't changed. But it's our home leg and we want to take advantage of that."

Kompany added: "A lot can happen in a game like this. We need to be prepared for everything, whether that's sitting back or pressing high. "But there's a lot in between that can determine a game. We need to be there mentally to do the right thing."

BAIR HUNT

Jonny fighting to win his England place back

JONNY Bairstow is not ready to accept his status as England's forgotten man and remains determined to revive his international career, according to his Yorkshire coach Anthony McGrath.

Bairstow found himself edged out in all three formats last year and despite having a central contract that runs until October, it is almost eight months since he last represented his country.

An injury to Jacob Bethell ahead of the Champions Trophy might have opened the door for a player whose powerful hitting helped England to World Cup glory in 2019 but despite a dreadful run of results in India the selectors instead brought another wicketkeeper-batter, Tom Banton, in from the cold.

At 35, time is running out to force a change of heart among the selectors but Bairstow is known as one of the most driven players on the circuit and his ambitions continue to burn bright.

McGrath's first season back at Headingley would be made a lot easier with a player of Bairstow's vast experience at his disposal, but he has not given up on wearing an England shirt again.

"Having Jonny with us at Yorks would be great, he improves everything we do on and off the field, but he still has ambitions to play for England," McGrath said.

Forefront

"International cricket always takes precedence and that is still on his radar. You only get one career and Jonny is determined to get back in."

"Not to prove anyone wrong but just to show people what he can still do at the highest level."

"From speaking to him, I know that is definitely at the forefront of his mind. My job is to support him and help him be the player he wants to be." Bairstow has spent the new year in South Africa's SA20 competition with Joburg Super Kings but his next move remains unclear.

He had planned to take up a lucrative deal in the Pakistan Super League but was not cleared to play as a result of a change to the England and Wales Cricket Board rules on overseas leagues.

Bairstow is understood to be extremely frustrated at missing out on that opportunity while still being overlooked by England, but still harbours hopes of being picked up as a replacement player in the Indian Premier League – which enjoys a unique status with the ECB.

If the call does not come he could find himself back in the County Championship, spearheading newly-promoted Yorkshire's Division One hopes and building his case with first-class runs.

"It can change weekly, Jonny's not in the IPL at the moment but injuries happen. If we do see him it really would be a game changer."

"Whenever he does finish with England, which happens to everyone at some point, he has a decision to make about what comes next.

BATTLING ON:
Jonny Bairstow

"I had Sir Alastair Cook when I was with Essex and when he came to an end with England, the plan was to play for one more year. He ended up playing four."

"From a selfish point of view, something like that would be brilliant for us, but he's still a relatively young man and he has a lot of options."

Historic

■ New Zealand batter Kane Williamson has signed up to play for Middlesex and London Spirit during the 2025 season.

Williamson has featured for Gloucestershire and Yorkshire in England, but the 34-year-old will call Lord's home for this summer after past appearances at the historic venue.

The Black Caps' leading run-scorer is set to feature in at least five County fixtures for Middlesex in addition to 10 Vitality Blast matches before he captains London Spirit in the latest edition of The Hundred.

Van Dijk: Kop can cope with twists and turns still to come in title race

By JOHN ANTHONY

LIVERPOOL captain Virgil van Dijk is confident they can handle the nerves as the Premier League title race heats up.

The 2-1 victory over Wolves may have restored the leaders' seven-point lead over Arsenal but the second half, and final 25 minutes in particular, did not make for comfortable viewing for Reds fans.

What should have been a straightforward win after goals from Luis Diaz and Mohamed Salah turned into a nail-biter once the latter had a second ruled out for offside and then Matheus Cunha curled home.

After Wednesday's concession of an equaliser in the eighth minute of added time in Goodison Park's final Merseyside derby there was a palpable air of anxiety. Van Dijk understood the frustration and said: "Get a grip? Yeah, well it is easier to say than actually do. We are all human beings and I totally understand anxiety or nervousness can kick in."

"I said it weeks ago, we just have to buckle up, enjoy the ride. There will be a lot of twists and turns."

"If you're not ready for it – and we have been there already – it will be a difficult couple of months for you but I feel like we as a team are ready for it."

"We will give it everything we've got and we will see in 13 games if that is enough."

"It is all about game-by-game and not looking at others as we have no influence on other teams or other situations."

Liverpool may not be able to directly affect their title rivals but they have a chance to strike a significant psychological blow at Aston Villa on Wednesday where they could stretch their advantage into double figures.

However, Van Dijk has experience of having a 10-point lead, albeit at an earlier stage of the season, and still not winning the league and will warn the squad against not getting ahead of themselves.

Tally

In January 2019 Liverpool had a similar-sized cushion over Manchester City, who did have a match in hand, when they lost at the Etihad Stadium as Pep Guardiola's side won 18 of their last 19 matches with the Reds finishing second by a point with a record tally of 97.

So the prospect of going 10 clear again at Villa Park, even though Arsenal will have only 13 games in which to respond, is not something which animates Van Dijk.

"I don't know how others would think, I can only say what I think and what I tell the boys to do because I've been through this whole situation and come up short as well twice," he said.

"The only thing you have to do is just focus on us, let's try to win every game ahead of us and if we do that then obviously we have success."

"We have to put all our energy in only ourselves and that is hard enough already – you saw how Wolves made it difficult for us and on Wednesday it will be very difficult again."

"If you focus on other things or look at others it is only going to backfire so, we keep going."

"Certain players in our team might watch other teams but it is not going to help you."

"We have to keep winning, keep putting three points on the board, no matter what. I think that was also the mentality the season we won it (2020): we kept going, kept going and we found a way."

Boss Arne Slot is confident his squad can deal with the pressure.

The Dutchman has his own experience of winning a title with Feyenoord two years ago but inherited a dressing room full of Premier League champions from 2020 when he moved to Anfield in the summer.

Prepare

He is backing the likes of van Dijk, Alisson Becker and Mohamed Salah to lead the squad through some more inevitably testing times. "I think it always helps if you have experienced it already, that's not only me but also for the players," he said.

"We lean a lot on the players because we train with them, I give them a pre-match meeting to try to prepare them in the best possible way but from that moment onwards you lean on the players – how much work-rate do they want to put in, how well do they execute the gameplan, do they adapt to what the other team does?"

"It helps not in the sense they have won the league here maybe but they are used to playing big games in their career with a lot of pressure: Macca (Alexis Mac Allister) has won a World Cup with Argentina.

"I think it helps you if a team or a player already won something but don't make that too big because you still have to play for it and you can't compare the circumstances.

"So the ones that won the league here already that was in Corona(virus) time with fans not being in the stadium and at a certain point they were 25 points up so you can hardly talk about pressure then.

"Although I am the type of manager that if there are 10 games to be played and I'm 25 points up I still feel like 'oh, we have to win' but there was hardly any pressure then.

"But we do lean on the players because they have to show up and bring the performances in but not in the manner where today or tomorrow they present a meeting on how to deal with the pressure, that's not how it works."

BREN: BAYERN DON'T SCARE US

CELTIC manager Brendan Rodgers has urged his team to play without fear against Bayern Munich.

Rodgers' side have travelled to Germany 2-1 down in the Champions League but Daizen Maeda's late goal at Parkhead has given the Hoops fans hope.

Rodgers said: "It is a challenge at this level. But it's something that we want to embrace, that challenge."

"We've done very well to get to this point. When you get to this point, you want to play top-level teams. This is a team that has world-class players."

"I think it's just spelling out that you come to this level and you have to play without any fear."

"I think there's worse things in life that can happen than losing a game of football. So for us, we want to ensure that when we come in after the game, if we don't go through, we've given it absolutely everything."

Ferdinand fears United will be RELEGATED!

RIO Ferdinand reckons Manchester United will be RELEGATED this season.

The Old Trafford legend fears his former club will win just ONE of their remaining 13 games in the Premier League.

That could leave them with as few as 32 points at the end of the season. It could mean they drop into the second tier 50 years after their last spell in the Championship.

Ferdinand said: "Only Wolves and West Ham separate my club from the relegation places."

"Do you realise we're that close? Someone said we need 11 points just to stay up."

"I've got the fixture list: Everton away, Ipswich at home, Arsenal and Nottingham Forest away."

"Before hosting Man City, and going to Newcastle away, and then Wolves, Bournemouth, Brentford, Chelsea, Aston Villa, Leicester."

"The only place I see us getting anything — and I'm not even saying a win — is Leicester. I'm not seeing wins. That's the problem."

Even if United did end the season on 32 points, it means Leicester or Ipswich would have to pick up five wins from their remaining games to catch the Reds which looks a pretty tall order.
